NO TRACE OF BABY NORMA.

THOUGH HER ABDUCTRESS IS SAID TO HAVE BEEN SEEN.

supt. Murray Is Giving the Case His Personal Attention-Mysterious Callers at the Meersseman Home-The Anxious Father Taken on a Fool's Errand to the Baby Norma Meersseman who was ab ducted from the home of her parents by their servant girl, Rose Lavery, on Tuesday last, has not yet been returned to her griefstricken parents.

Rose was married, but was separated from her husband, and about six weeks ago she alarmed and reported the matter to the police. A general alarm was sent out.

The abductress is said to have been seen in the vicinity of Fulton Market yesterday morning by a policeman of the Fourth Precinct. She would give the officer no information and walked off.

About 6 o'clock last evening two men called at Meeraseman's store, 167 Wooster street and told the father that if he went with them he might find his child.

at Meersseman's store, 167 Wooster street and told the father that if he went with them he might find his child.

Eager to regain possession of his lost one, the father accompanied the men to South street and wandered around the piers and drinking saloons. The men coaxed him down to the Battery, and they then disappeared. Meersseman stayed down in that locality until 4 o'clock this morning.

About 10 o'clock last night three men called at the house. Two went in and talked to the mother, while the other stood watch on the outside.

The men asked the mother the amount she would give for the return of her child. She suswered she would give them anything they wanted. They then said that if she would give them $1 to pay expenses they would get the baby, which was in Greenpoint.

Mrs. Meersseman told them to wait and she would see her husband, and she started out for the police. She went to Police Headquarters, but was referred to the Mulberry street station. From there she was sent to the Prince street station, and the officers there, in turn, sent her to Mercer street station.

From the last place a detective was sent, but when he reached the house the men had been gone three minutes.

Inspector Steers to-day caused the arrest of Jacob Benson, aged twenty, of 416 Pearl street, and Edwin Powers, aged seventeen, of 13 Madison street, who admitted, at Headmarters, that they were the parties who demanded the dollar each from Mrs. Heersseman. They were remanded for examination on the charge of blackmail.

Inspector Steers also called up the police of the precinct in which the woman Lavery is best known, and ordered a house-to-house search for her.

Typical Jersey politics are breaking out quite freely.

Both men are out on bail and both deny the charge.
Charles Keefe, a 'longshoreman, who lives with his wife and two children in a tenement-house at 74 Morris street, and is registered at 62, the first election precinct of the 'Horseshoe,' or Second Assembly District, arpeared before the Board of Registry at the Third Precinct of the First District yesterday morning and offered the name of John Loughlin, 104 York street.
Then suddenly he exclaimed: "Do you want me to register under another man's name? I demand that you arrest this man, who brought me here."

who brought me here."

He pointed his finger at John H. Beckham, who was beside him.

Yesterday afternoon Beckham was arrested on a warrant issued by Justice Weed, and balled in $1,000 for examination to-morrow effernoon.

on a warrant issued by Justice Weed, and bailed in $1,000 for examination to-morrow afternoon.

Last evening Justice Rouget was found in his office a waiting bail for a girl prisoner, and on Keefe's affidavit that Gen Ramsey had conspired with Beckham to have him falsely register, a warrant was issued and Gen. Ramsay get bail in $300 to appear to-morrow morning Justice Rouget having a case on for to-day.

Gen. Ramsey said to an Evenino World reporter to-day:

It is all a conspiracy. I do not care to name the prominent Democrat who put up the scheme, but it is because I have presented fourteen cases of fraudulent voting at last Fall's election to the Grand Jury.

"I was counted out of an election in the First Assembly District in 1886, and I propose to stop election frauds if I can."

Beckham is a cigar-maker, and has worked in Gen. Ramsay's shop at 184 Newark avenue. He is now a runner for the State Committee.

"All I know of the case." continued Gen. Ramsay, "is that F. S. Pettes came to me yesterday morning and told me that Mr. Laughlin was unable to walk to the place of registry.

"I gave his name and others to Mr. Beck."

Laughlin was unable to walk to the place of registry.

"I gave his name and others to Mr. Beckham, and told him to attend to them. Yesterday afternoon I told him to get a carriage at Duffy's livery and take Mr. Laughlin to the precinct to register. I don't know Keefe, and never saw him."

Mr. Laughlin was found propped up in bed at his home. He said:

"I told Mr. Petter, my grocer, yesterday morning that I couldn't walk to the place of registry and might not be able to go on Election Day. A carriage came for me at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and I went and registered." istered."

istered."

Mr. Petter, Gen. Ramsay and Beckham knew that Mr. Laughlin was ill.

Keefe paraded with the Republicans Wednesday night.
"After the parade," says Keefe, "John Sullivan told me he wanted to see me at Gen. Ramsey's office, and I went there yesterday morning. I was never there before. I did not see him.
"I was in Sussex street a little later and met Beckham. We were before the Belgian not see him.

"I was in Sussex street a little later and met Beckham. We were before the Belgian House and he invited me in to drink. We had a drink, and he says: 'Say, where can I get a man to register and vote for a sick man who can't get out?'

"I says. 'I'll do it,' and he says, 'Gen. Ramsey will make it pay you.''

"Beckham was for goingito register right off, but I wouldn't till we see Ramsay. So we went to Gen. Ramsey's room.

"Beckham told him'I would do it, and Gen. Ramsay ays: 'That will be all right. You just give that name and say he's a native. Then come back here.'

"So we went down to the precinct at 37 Gregory street, and after I gaye the name I asked them to arrest Beckham.

Gen. Ramsey said he understood that Keefe was a Democrat and registered under his own name in several precincts, and that Chief of Police Murphy had his name on a list to be watched.

Keefe denied this, and said he was what he watched.

Keefe denied this, and said he was what he walled a Liberal, voting for men he liked on called a Liberal, voting for men he liked on all tickets.

Chief Murphy said he had not had Keefe's name till late last night, when John Sullivan, of Ramsay's staff, told him that he had heard that Keefe was registered in two places, but had had his name stricken from the roll but had had his name stricken from the roll in one precinct.

The reporter said to Gen, Ramsay: "In view of all the circumstances, it looks as if either you or Beckham were in a hole, doesn't it? Only you two and Petter knew of Laughlin's inability. How could Keefe, a stranger, living distant from Laughlin, know the circumstances unless Beckham told him?"

Gen. Ramsay replied that he was not prepared to argue the case.

The Police Are Making a Het Cruand

The alleged colonization scheme for neutralizing the Democratic majority has run against a most formidable snag in the shape against a most formidable snag in the shape of the police authorities and District-Attorney's office, and is to-day engaging their closest attention.

A crusede has been inaugurated against colonization and illegal registration and will be pushed with the utmost vigor during these last two days of registration.

There was unusual activity at the Elizabeth street station this morning. Detectives and officers in citizens' dress started out from the station-house at an early hour this morning in search of frauds, and are all under the personal direction of Capt. McCullagh. The police suspect a number of men in this precinct, as in others, and in case they try to register they will be arrested.

a number of men in this precinct, as in others, and in case they try to register they will be arrested.

Supt. Murray has taken measures to thwart any colonization. "We have secured warrants for the arrest of men for registering illegally, and in case they can be caught will be arrested." he said. "They may visit the places of registration to-day and in that case they will be detained, for we have every such place in the city carefully watched."

"How about the colonization of Harlem with negroes?" asked the reporter.

"We have found that there are many imported colored men there who will try to register, but they will not be allowed to do so unless they have a right."

Assistant District-Attorney Fitzgerald, when questioned about the alleged attempt to secure Republican votes by colonization, said: "We know of such an attempt having been made in certain districts, and we know some of the parties belonging to the little colonies who will be nabbed without ceremony in case they register. We will not allow any scheme to defeat the Democratic party in New York State or City if we can help it."

YOUNG MRS. BLAINE ILL.

Her Matrimental Troubles Have Unstrung Her Nervous System-

Mrs. James G. Blaine, jr., wife of the Maine statesman's son, is lying quite ill at the New York Hotel. The strain on her nervous system, produced by the events of the last few weeks, has at last proved too much for this plucky little woman, and at an early hour this morning she was attacked by a severe case of nervous prostration and hysteria.

At noon she was resting easier, but is still quite sick, and will be unable to leave her room for some time.

a sugar plantation of 1,200 scres at Thibodeaux, I.a., at about $5 per acre. His brothers, sisters and mother bought separate plantations for themselves about four miles outside of Thibodeaux.

The brothers and sisters married, but Patrick lived alone. Money was his idol. He loved gold for the pleasure of having it. He became noted for miserliness. Recently his health broke down and he sold his plantation for $90,000 last July.

Then he came to this city, en route to Ireland, whither he was going for the benefit of his health. Incidentally he meant to buy some land in the old dart and pass the remainder of his days there, if he saw any place to suit him.

He was found intoxicated in a city street and astonished the police by displaying something like $17,000 that he estried about in his clothing.

He finally went to Ireland, but finding no place to suit him there he came back here and arrived on the Aurania ten days ago.

He stopped at Martin's Hotel, corner of Hudson and Morton streets.

He kept to himself and no one imagined that he was wealthy.

Policeman Lyna found him drunk in the street and took him to the Oak street station. When searched he was found to have three five thousand dollar pold certificates, a five hundred dollar bill, $160 in ten dollar bills and $8.47 in change. Total, $15,663.47.

Besides this he had a valuable gold watch and chain, a pocketbook and some papers, a penknife, an old umbrella and a well-worn necktie.

He denied being drunk and claimed that he was paralyzed. The officers said he was paralyzed, indeed.

Skelly was committed to the Tombs, where BEDELL RESUMES HIS TESTIMONY. He Was Questioned This Morning Merely on Forms of Business.

Mortgage forger James E. Bedell, was recovered sufficiently from his indisposition to continue the examination before Judge Barrett in the Supreme Court, this morning. Elihu Root, representing the firm of Ship-

P. Nash, representing the Phoenix and Coninental Banks, and Mr. Butler, of Butler,

Stillman & Hubbard, for the Bank of the State of New York, conducted the examina-

State of New York, conducted the examination.

The questions put to Bedell were answered promptly. They merely related to the making out of the necessary papers in mortgage loans. Bedell said that himself, and occasionally Judge Choate, passed upon the applications for loans, the amounts applied for, &c. After an application had been passed upon he would then report to the clients of the firm, who decided whether or not the mortgage was an acceptable one.

Bedell gets paler and paler every day. His face looks haggard, and black spots have formed around his eyes. During the examination he shielded his face as much as possible from the spectators, with his hand. His brother Charles, who sat beside him during the cross-questioning, also looks careworn and deeply depressed.

In the latter part of his examination Bedell told what he did with the money he obtained.

He paid $7,500 for his farming property, buying eighty acres first and two smaller contents.

buying eighty acres first and two smaller pieces afterwards. Then he spent from $30,000 to $50,000 on improvements, stock, new barns, &c.

In 1883, he said, his salary was $3,000. When he got through with the place he was cetting $4,000.

When he got through with the place he was getting $4,000.

The checks which he requested Cashier Dodge to draw up, Bedell said, the firm never refused to sign, though he was sometimes called to explain some points.

Several times in the course of the testimony it was brought out that borrowers did not appear to the firm in person.

MR. BLAINE WAS FATIGUED.

His Pinns for the Future Days of the Cam paign Not Settled.

The fatigue attendant upon the exertion of speaking at the crowded Garden last night made Mr. Blaine a late riser this morning. Capt, Cunningham, who was one of the outdoor speechmakers, informed an Eventuo WORLD reporter that the Maine statesman had expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied with the night's work, and spoke most encouragingly for the future.

Mr. Blaine will remain at the Fifth Avenue Hotel for a few days longer, but his plans in the mean time have not as yet been settled.

THE PRESIDENT HERE TO-NIGHT.

It Will Be a Great Parade, With Fully 60,000 Democrate in Line. President Cleveland will arrive from Washington late this evening for the purpose of reviewing the grand parade projected by of reviewing the grand parade projected by the organizations of business men who support Cleveland and Thurman.

He will remain at the residence of Secretary William C. Whitney until the procession starts, when he will take up his position on the reviewing stand which has been erected on the east side of Fifth avenue at the Worth Monument.

Everything is working to make the parade the grandest demonstration ever made in favor of a political candidate.

Fully sixty thousand men will be in line and march up Broadway, which, for the first time since the building of the street railway will be unobstructed by cars.

Grand Marshal Major John Landers is busy as can be perfecting the details of the demonstration at his headquarters at the Stevens House to-day.

COWPERTHWAITS STORE ROBBED.

The Cash-Drawer Broken Open and Tw Employees Arrested. George Bergman and Charles Wilson, em ployees in the stove department of Cowperthwait's big furnishing store near Chatham Square, were before Justice Railly at the Tombs this morning on a charge of robbery preferred by the firm. It was discovered yesterday morning that the each drawer in the office had been broken the eash drawer in the office had been broken open and $25.30 in loose change stolen. Wilson and Bergman were suspected, because they had been at work in the store alone after hours the night before. They were watched, and during the day Manager Slattery caught Hergman trying to pawn a stolen clock at a shop in Catherine street.

Bergman said Wilson had given him the clock, but denied robbing the cash drawer. He was handed over to the police. Wilson, meanwhile, suspected that he was being watched, disappeared, and was captured by Manager Slattery last evening at Rivington and Essex streets, near his home. He was also taken to the Oak street police station.

Justice Reilly held both men for trial a General Sessions.

TO GO BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.

Barrett Refuses to Quash Quartarare's Writ of Certiorari. Assistant District-Attorney Bedford, before Judge Barrett in Supreme Court Chambers, this morning moved to have the writ of certiorari in the case of Vincenzo Quartararo, the young Italian accused of complicity in the murder of Antonio Flaccomic in front of Cooper Union on the night of Oct. 14, dismissed upon the ground that the case was before the Grand Jury.

Lawyers Stilwell & Lawler, Quartararo's counsel, opposed the motion and Judge Barrett refused to grant it.

He allowed an adjournment of the hearing until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock upon ex-Judge Bedford's assurance that the Grand Jury would act on the case to-day. If the jury indict him Quartararo's lawyers will move for bail and an immediate trial.

SHOT ONE OF HIS ASSAILANTS. New Driver and Conductor Assaulted b Lakeview Toughs.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The feeling against the new street-car men is still very bitter. Paraell Commission.

ISPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD. I LONDON, Oct. 26. —Sir Richard Webster continued his speech for the Times before the Parnell Commission to-day.

His argument was in the usual strain. He laid many of the alleged outrages in Ireland at the doors of members of the National League, quoted freely from the speeches of John Dillon, William O'Brien and others to show that they supported the plan of campaign.

He was interrupted by Justice Hannen, who saked the Attorney-General if he did not think he had given sufficient indication of his line of argument.

Mr. Parnell's counsel, Sir Charles Russell, thought it would expedite matters if Mr. Webster handed speeches he meant to quote from to the Commission.

It was evident the patience of the Commissioners was becoming exhausted.

HORSE-CARS CAPTURED

This Morning's Campaign by Our Interviewing Corps.

The Passengers in Eighteen Cars Quickly Polled.

Another Strong Showing for Cleveland, Hill and Grant-

To invade and canvass the votes of passengers on board of eighteen separate and distinct streetcars on the various city routes and during the busi-est hours of travel this morning is the latest remarkable achievement of our able Interviewing Corps.
They went out thirty strong, and came back within the hour and a half allotted to their tank, covered with the spoils of victory and with glory.
Elevated railroad trains, ferry-boats, the docks along the river fronts and the business exchange downtown have one after another yielded to the downtown have one after another yielded to the overwhelming onstangins of the Corps, and naturally enough the surface railroads dame next in order as offering an inviting and promising field for operations.

The attack, which was planned with care and executed with agnal atrategic ability under the direction of the experienced captain of the phalanx, was growned with success.

The Third avenue cars were boarded in quick succession by as many members of the staff. There a Dry-Dock jigger, two Bloccker street cars and three Avenue B blue cars came in for a draft upon the resources of the phalanx.

Next, the Eighth and Seventh Avenue lines, over on the other gide of Broadway, were supplied with representatives of the corps, and after disposing of a few more the remnant of the phalanx started up Park Row for Chainam Square, under the command of the captain and the first heutenant.

At that point the remaining members of the corps were quickly put into commission on the Second avenue untown route and a couple of crossions ince, while a trip of three blocks more down Oliver street disposed of the last two privates on board two crowded Beit line care.

In all ten horse-car lines were included in the attack of the phalanx, and within a quarter of an hour after starting from The Evenino World office the members of the corps were scattered in every direction over the lows, busily at work gathering the straws which indicate the direction in which the wind of public opinion is blowing.

As soon as a member of the corps boarded the car he displayed the badge of his authority and made no delay in getting to work. The public have come to regard the young man of the famous phalanx as old acquaintances, and now their appearance in a crowded car was received with looks of admiration more than curiosity.

The interviewers has no difficulty in making a great slaughter of victims, obtaining a free contession from nearly every one they approached and bringing back pocketsful of "straws" that were truly representative of the drift of political opinion among the masses.
